STARTLING RUMOR FROM UNIONTOWN, KY. The Evansville Journal of Tuesday give publicity to the rumor that a citizen of Mt. Vernon, Mr. Sullivan, had arrived there with the information that the rebels, 1,100 strong, had entered Uniontown on Monday, and had massacred the handful of Union troops ther and the Union citizens. The rebels consist of 500 cavalry and 600 infantry. They are said to be commanded by John Morgan. The Journal says prompt measures have been taken to drive the invaders from the border, or to bag or annihilate the whole concern. The same intelligence was brought to this city by travellers, but a gentleman who left Evansville Tuesday and came to Louisville by railroad, arriving on Tuesday evening, did not credit the rumor. A gunboat had been despatched from Evansville for Uniontown, but, owing to the low water, it could not get be low Henderson. FRANKFORT EVACUATED .- We received intelligence at eleven o'clock yesterday that the city of Frankfort had been evacuated by the Federal troops, the entire force, embracing about six thousand men, including infantry cavalry, and artillery, having taken up the line of march by way of the Shelbyville turnpike in the direction of Louisville. The troop departed in good order, bringing away their supply trains. Gen. Crufts was in command of the infantry and Gen. James S. Jackson in command of the cavalry. There was no undue excitement in Frankfort before or after the departure of the troops.

The regular accommodation trains lef Frankfort at the usual hour this morning, and arrived upon time, with a large number of passengers. The train which left this city did not proceed beyond Bagdad, twelve miles this side of Frankfort. A despatch from the telegraphic operator at Frankfort at 11 o'clock yesterday morning represented the rebel pickets in the vicinity of Frankfort at that hour.

We have received from the publishers Mead & Woodward, New York, the September number of the "Horticulturist." The articles "Hints on Grape Culture," "Wine Making," and the notices of new varieties of fruit are o interest to every grower or lover of fruit. We see that the "Horticulturist" maintains successfully the high reputation that it has held for years. A HEAVY ARRIVAL .- The Mobile Register has a seemingly authentic statement of a late heavy arrival for account of the Confederacy at a Confederate port. One million pound of powder and 35,000 stand of arms are among the items of the cargo, the aggregate value of which was such that the Government agreed to pay £800,000 sterling on delivery—a sum equivalent, at present rates of exchange, to about $8,000,000.

NINTH WARD HOME GUARDS .- Messrs. Wm Weir, J. D. Ward, and John Akers will call on the citizens of the Ninth Ward, to arge the importance of their joining this military or ganization. Only a few names more are needed to enable the company to get guns.

THE HOLMAN TROUPE .- This favorite troupe are playing in Cincinnati. They have engage ments to fill in St. Louis at an early day, hav ing fulfilled which they will make a short season in this city. An announcement that will be gratifying to the juveniles.

Ten heavy mails were received from Nashville on Tuesday evening.

PARISIAN GOSSIP .- The Paris correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce wrote as follows on the 15th of August:

We are in the midst of the national fete of the St. Napoleon, the only festival for the due celebration of which, as the Mouiteur officially informs us, the Minister of the Interior, and not the Minister of War, undertakes to supply guppowder. To judge by the thunders which awoke us from our morning slumbers at six o'clock, the supply must have been of unlimited extent for the guns of the Invalides; and ited extent for the guns of the invalides; and to judge by the preparations making for the fireworks this evening, at the Pont de Jean and the Place du Trone, there is intended to be no lack of the same noisy material tonight. The whole city, too, is decked out in its gayest apparel, and on all sides preparations have been made for the amusement of the population. The day begins, of course with Masses and Te Deums at Notre Dame and all the churches, which are consistently fol-lowed up by the opening of the theatres gratis to audiences which may be safely pronounced to audiences which may be safely pronounced to be more numerous than select. These representations take place at 1 o'clock, and if any one desires to become acquainted with the sort of population which Paris is able to supply for this "national festivity," he cannot do better than place himself for half an hour as a spectator before the doors of one of the theatres. For the thousands who are unable or unwilling to enter, there are plenty of openair amusements, in the shape of sham fights. nnwilling to enter, there are plenty of open-air amusements, in the shape of sham fights, jousts on the water, mats de cocaque and a hundred similar entertainments and occupa-tions. At night the illuminations promise to be more than usually splendid and effective. More than 120,000 gas-lights of various de-acriptions have been distributed over the Place de la Concord and its fountains and along the entire Avenue of the Champs Elysees, as far as the Arc de l'Etoile: and besides these, ail as the Arc de l'Etoile; and besides these, ai the principal edifices of the city and many o the leading thoroughfares are prepared for similar display. If the Second Empire doe not do much to enlighten the minds of its subcerned. In the midst of all this jubilation which is going on as I write, there is just one serious thought and object of interest connected with the fete; and that is, whether the Emperor intends to take advantage of the official receptions on the occasion to say a few words of his imperial mind on the subject of Rome or any other question. There is an im-pression that he does intend doing so; and pression that he does intend doing so; and perhaps at this very moment the dicta are passing his lips. If so, I shall endeavor, if possible, to transmit them to you in a postscript, should they become public before this letter is mailed. That they will remain closely locked up in the imperial bosom until the very moment of utterance, is a fact of which no one can entertain a doubt who has studied the character of the Ruler of France for the last ten years.

character of the Ruler of France for the last ten years.

We have some tidings, but more uncertainty respecting Garibaldi. A sort of rencontre has taken place between his volunteers and the regular troops; but I confess that for my own part I am still indisposed to regard the occurrences taking place in Sicily in a very serious light. A friend well acquainted with Garibaldi, and who only recently parted from him, assures me that he left him under the impression that the ex-Dictator was acting only as an agitator and not an aggressor; that his present object was only to prevent the Roman question from slumbering, not to solve it by force; and he even went so far as to express his conviction that Ratazzi and Garibaldi perhis conviction that Ratazzi and Garibaldi per clared that nothing shall induce him to enter into a conflict with Italians, and that his motto is still "Italy and Victor Emmanuel!" The mad address said to have been made by him to his volunteers at Bacca-Palomba, in which the government of the King, against France, and rather than yield, destroy the Italy he has created," certainly wears the appearance of exaggeration, and at all events requires confirmation. But the sensation is undoubtedly appearance of the sensation of the se

National Guard, amidst a vast assemblage of people. The Empress proceeds almost immediately to Biarritz, where the Empreor will shortly join her. The fashionable and political season of Paris both close finally with the fete of to-day, and every official person is preparing to leave the capital. Business of all kinds to leave the capital. Business of all kinds to leave the capital. Business of all kinds to leave the capital as stand still, and stagnancy will be the order of the day for the remainder of the autumn.

HELMBOLD'S REMEDIES

o-morrow at 10¼ o'clock A. M. And then the House adjourned MR. TRAIN ON THE CIVIL WARS OF ENG-AND.—It seems that England is the last naion on the world's map to preach to America on the horrors of civil war. Mr. Train has traced her Revolutionary History with a maser hand. He says:

Federal Relations be instructed to report on

You speak of civil war as if it was purely un American Institution. The idea is English. Oh! Every step in your history is red with devolution. ["No."] How can you deny it? "Proof"] You shall have a dozen volumes the lister with a paragraph. and the same

The same of this day, which was adopted

The years and navys were called upon the amendment of Mr. McHenry, and were as follows: Yeas 11, nays 11. There being a tie of the motion was lost.

Mr. Rhea moved to amend by striking the same of the sa erocious Barons—then that the prostitute, the ebauched, drunken, adulterous old Harry eighth— [loud laughter] — declared himself Pope, and established the Protestant religion, so that nobody could interfere with his harem so that nobody could interfere with his harem of English maids—[cheers and laughter]— (1534). Shakspeare was a revolver—so was Bacon—so was Newton. Civil war was fierce in 1642. Did you not distil your Commonwealth out of the blood of Naseby, Newbury, and Marston Moore? Cromwell was a revolutionist. England was born in revolution—by the proportion of the production—and will distinguish the production. lives in revolution—and will die in revolution.

What is England's history, says a public writer, but a succession of wars with Danes, Irish [cheer s], Welch, Scots, French, religious sects, Indians east and west, in fact, the whole ribes of earth, and all more in an aggressive pirit than any others. A bloody record of ra spirit than any others. A bloody record of rapine, burglary, and assassination. [Oh.] HasEngland escaped rebellions? Have you really

Oliver Cromwell—[applause]—Prince Rupo James II., William and Mary, Boyne—[lo James II., William and Mary, Boyne—[loud cheers]—Culloden, Queen Caroline, Lord George Gordon, O'Connell, Chartists—[cheers]—and ten thousand other events and deeds of men that have each shaken England to the centre and caused blood enough to flow to fill the land with terror—has England forgotten all these? [Hear.] Has England forgotten Louis Napoleon, her special policeman of 1848? [Cheers and laughter.] Were not all these fratricidal wars? Atrocious wars? Family wars? Did not brother fight brother, and father fight son—man against his brother man? as America is doing now, (Applause.) I have dived down into the blue books of my schoolboy memory to show that civil war was not invented by the Americans. (Applause.) It boy memory to show that civil war was not invented by the Americans. (Applause.) It is an English patent—a purely monarchical institution. The sum total is an eye-opener to a reflective mind. Here is the result. Reference will show that from 1066 to 1825 covers 759 years. The British Isles have indulged in thirty-one civil wars and rebellions in that period excessions a quarral excession was treated. period, averaging a quarrel once every twenty, three years. (Hear.) With her nearest neigh-bor, France, in the same time, she has engaged in twenty-six wars, averaging one every twenty-nine years. (Cheers,) With other foreign nations, thirty times, averaging one every twenty-five years. Add all these toty against all forcible and unlawful attacks of bodies of armed men:" "Provided, that nothing in this act shall in any way relate to any person in the military service of the United States or the State of Kentucky, or interfere with volunteering or drafting for either service."]

The principal amendment proposed by the committee is to exclude from the companies proposed to be organized, all persons between the ages of 18 and forty years. Add all these together and it gives England the credit of engaging in a domestic or foreign war every nine years. (Oh.) Her wars with France have consumed 267 years out of the 1759, thirty-five per cent of the time. Since these statistics were compiled, England thas fought every weak power that resented her bullying diplomatists—Turkey, Egypt, New Zealand, India, three China Wars, Persia, and Russia. (Hear.) And made every Persia, and Russia. (Hear.) And made eve few bad men had organized with the view of plunder. (Loud cheers and shame.)

England is a thousand years of age, America

England is a thousand years of age, America scarcely a hundred. America fought side by side with England at Martinique, Harrisburg, and Quebec—[hear]—against France, and yet Frenchmen gave a helping hand to America in the Revolution. America is too young to have as many wars and rebellions as England. War with England in 1776 and 1812. War with the Pirates of Tripoli. War with the wild Indians of the West, and war with Mexica. These are our wars and we have hed by wild Indians of the West, and war with Mexico. These are our wars, and we have had but half a dozen little rebellions. Shay's rebellion, the Whisky rebellion, the Calhoun Nullification rebellion, put down (Dr. Mackay says in his last letter to the Times by Daniel Jackson. [Laughter.] The historical quidnane of the Times must be as wise as its geographical surveyor when it writes a leader on Prussia coming into the Zollverein—[laughter]—when every child ought to know that Prussia was its founder!—[hear]—and the Dorr rebellion. Now, the grand revolution of 1862 will give a population to the U.S. of America of 100,000,000 in the year nineteen hundred. [Loud cheers.] in the year nineteen hundred. [Loud cheers.] Talk not to me of Greece and Rome. Our steam-engine, telegramic, iron-clad republic feels insulted at being in any way compared with those barbaric, bow-and-arrow, batterwith those barbaric, bow-and-arrow, battering-ram, sandal-wearing antiquities. [Laughter.] Would you compare the six-mile Parrott sharpshooter with the portable wooden beam of the Cæsars? Place the fifteen hundred yard shot of the Minie rifle alongside of the pea-shooting wooden bow of the Roman General. [Hear.] Socrates never wore patent leather boots—[laughter]—and Themistocles buttoned his trousers up behind. [Loud laughter.] Say no more of the republics of the ancients, but talk of the great new light that burns so brightly in the west—the grandest nation yet made by the hand of God. [Cheers.] The puny battles of Cyrus may have dazzled the ancients; the Macedonian have dazzled the ancients; the Maccdonian phalanx would not have made up a decent battalion for a single State—[cheers]—and Cæsar's Tenth Legion would not have made a decent body-guard for McClellan, (Laughter and cheers.) What were the victories of the Great Alexander on the Granicus and the plains of Arbela or from the Nile to the Indus, but sof Arbela, or from the Nile to the Indus, age hordes freebooting for a living? age nordes freebooting for a hying? Hannibal may have marched from Spain to Italy, and fought battles on the Ticino, but would you compare therewith the Richmond battles of McClellan? (Hear.) The Swede Gustavus did some damage in Germany—the Twelfth Charles was smart, and the Great Frederick may have passed muster—(hear)—but there was no General horn until the ad--but there was no General born until the ad vent of the first Bonaparte. (Cheers.) Napoleo he Great was an entire man. The other ancient Generals were all Rigs. (Laughter and applause.) The American Generals have accomplished more in two years than the European Generals have in two centuries. (0h!) I hear no more sneers about our battles where only two are killed on one side [Hear.] The battles of Richmond were bloody enough for even English hate. Your turn comes next in order—I mean your revolutions when the masses rise to throw off the vok of serfdom that chokes their power of action. [Hear,] You now express doubt and delight because we have not raised 300,000 more volunteers in three days. You could no get 5,000 to volunteer during the Indian muti-ny, and in the Crimean War your loving sub-jects declined to take the shilling of the rib-boned recruiting-sergeant. Our militia alone sums up 4,000,000 of men, and we have not on, while our regular army are taking care f England and France. [Oh! laughter, and neers.] The nation is wide awake.

HEADQ'RS PROVOST MARSHAL GEN. KY, Louisville, Ky, Aug. 10, 1862.

General Orders No. 1:

1. Provost Marshals in the Department commanded by Brig. Gen. Boyla, are hereby notified that, in obedience to General Order No. 9, I have been appointed and have entered upon the discharge of the duties of Provost Marshal General of this Department.

2. The Federal and State authorities being now in harmony, it is intended as soon as possible.

2. The Federal and State authoritiss being now in harmony, it is intended as soon as possible to hand over to the State authorities the duty of keeping peace in the State. In the meanwhile indiscriminate arrests are strongly condemned. No arrests must be made except for such causes as are set forth in General Order No. 4, from the Headquarters of Gen. Boyle. The charge must be specific and supported by the written affidavit of one or more responsible parties.

3. Prisoners must not be sent to these Headquarters without the charges and proof. The cost of holding prisoners shall not exceed forty cents per day. per day.

4. Provost Marshals and Home Guards organ-

12ed by him act voluntarily without compensa-tion. Their subsistence when on duty must be furnished by the counties in which they act.

HENRY DENT, Provost Marshal General. Headquarters Provost Marshal General of Kr., L. Unsville, Kr., Aug. 19, 1862. S.

General Orders No. 2.

1st. Complaints have been made to these Head quarters that some of the Provost Marshals have taken money from persons arrested, in the shape of fees for oaths, binds, &s. Such conduct cannot be too strongly condemned, and Provost Marshals who may do so hereafter, either directly or indirectly, will be arrested and brought to these Headquarters.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1862. If, in the gigantic duel between Washington and Richmond now going on in Virginia, the loyal army is victorious, the war is ended; if the rebel army is victorious, the war is not ended, and it may be only begun, for it can have no end but the suppression of the rebellion. Not alone every loyal man, therefore, but every lover of peace, every lover of humanity, every lover of the blessings which make human life worth cherishing, should pray devoutly that the loyal arms may be victorious, and in all feasible modes work earnestly to promote the end. Men of the nation sand up your levies to the battle-field, and your There is a general call on the part o observing patriots military and unmilitary in favor of promotions from the ranks. We have had something of this, it is true, in our army but we ought to have had more. We must hav in the future, if we would have an army of the first order of efficiency.

We agree fully with the Philadelphia Inthe French service-palmam qui meruit ferat-Mes the secret of its superiority, says the Inquito most of their Captains and Colonels, to Soult, Marat, and Ney, to their great Comman. der himself, as having risen from the ranks they had an incentive to application in the camp, and bravery on the field, more than suf ficient to induce the most strenuous exertions and fearless exposure. When each private feels that a few hours' brave endurance and stroy those amongst whom they reside, and the gallant performance of duty in battle protection of whose laws they enjoy." may win a commission and open the very many in the ranks fitted for high position, some for the highest, there is no reason why this feeling should not be fostered and that merit in the ranks and merit alone wil secure promotion, and, with a people like ours, ever ready to engage in any enterprise, how ever hazardous, and incur any danger, howwill be little difficulty in filling requisitions for additional recruits. And, whilst all honor is due to him who, without thought of himself, altogether to recognize and act upon this doo trine. Whilst Donelson, Shiloh, Williamsburg Gaines's Mill, and Malvern Hill brought sorro to many households, to others it brought jo friends who had passed with honor through their fiery ordeals. We may point to the grizzled veteran Sumner as assurance that there is no obstacle in the way of the private soldier's reaching even the baton of a corps d'armee. In many of our regiments we have seen frequent instances of rapid promotion and, in one of them, Rush's Lancers, we have heard of no less than seven privates who have been commissioned to fill lieutenancies, mostly made vacant in the Peninsular campaign, through all the privations of which it has passed. The sounds of vigorous, energetic conflict, convince us that in the future ever more than in the past, many brave men nov unknown will win rewards not to be obtained in years of peace, which will amply repay their present hardships. Let the Governmen see to it that it does its full share toward realizing this just expectation. The more vigorous enforcement of the laws amongst us is a pressing necessity Rebels in arms do not constitute the sole dan ger to Kentucky; we have loud-mouthed traitors congregated in every town, village and hamlet, who daily render themselve amenable to the laws for seditions language discouragement of enlistments, and threat nings to resist Federal and State taxation There are others, too, who assume to hono the Union and respect the laws, the tone whose speeches and conversation is all wrong They are too anxious to avoid wounding the feelings of traitors in Kentucky; they wan to do nothing to exasperate their friends on 'th other side" or "the opposite party," and wish to be "conciliatory." Such men know nothing about secession. When the devil of secessio enters a man he brings in all the cohorts of othe devils with him, and there is no such thing trusting that man afterwards. When Gen. Boy assumed command in Kentucky, the university wish of the loyal men of the State was that h would tighten the reins upon the secessionist throughout the Commonwealth, and mak traitors feel that this war is waged to put down rebellion. But no sooner had a course of policy been commenced which would have developed the determination of the Govern ment than we were surrounded by volunteer advisers, professed Union men, who are always ready to talk about "military usurpation," and "the danger of our Governmen being converted into a military despotism," and who lay particular stress upon a traitor's pas respectability, high position and reputation for honesty and integrity. These arguments should not be allowed to have any influence on the tria of a traitor when he is arraigned to decide whether he ought to exercise the rights of citizenship, or has forfeited them. Just such management as we have seen in Southern Kentucky has indicated to the weakened Union men that the side against government was the safe side. If a man has been arrested, and pleads that although he has given a horse to some boy, to encourage his enlistment in the rebel army, and taken all the part which he could while the rebels were in power under their Provisional Government, or supported by invading Confederate troops, he is now very sorry and

The report from Cincinnati, published in our telegraphic columns vesterday, that the enemy was at Boyd's Station thirty-nine miles distant, twenty or thirty thousand strong, is no doubt a false report. It has no semblance of probability, and, moreover, inconsistent with later and more authenti reports concerning the whereabouts of the enemy. A detachment of horse may have been at Boyd's Station at the time mentioned, but preparation, that we hear on all sides, and nothing more. Such detachments will doubt till more the thundering echoes of the actual less be sent forth in all directions, in order, i possible, to divert and distract the gathering orces of the Union. But the mancatre will not serve its purpose.

We advise every man, no matter what secret apprehensions may lurk in his bosom, t ace the draft, if it come, with a bold and de fiant manner. There is only one chance in everal that he will be drafted, and, if he escape, his reputation for courage will be increased, while at the same time his bodily safety will be secured. Even if he is drafted, there are many chances that he will never be sho at, and many more chances, that, if shot at, he von't be hit. The danger of a drafted indi vidual is not a thing serious enough to cry or sigh about. There are many kinds of life more dangerous than that of a soldier.

The Washington correspondent of a incinnati paper states that the President, ew evenings ago, said of a very distinguished military officer, "He is a skilful, scientific, an brave General, but he has one fault, h doesn't embrace his opportunities." LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY .- Tuesday witnessed he first session of the General Assembly of Kentucky in this city, and yesterday the Legislature for the first time assembled unde the operations of martial law. The military nothing Napoleonic or Cromwellian about i tives. We must regard the enforcement of martial law in our vicinity as a necessity. In the House yesterday morning a very inter esting debate occurred on the subject of forming ompanies of Home Guards, in which Messrs Underwood, Clay, Smith, of Mason, Heady naking up a case for their dupes and for John Burnam, Allen, Taylor, and others, particip ed. All the gentlemen paid high tributes t the efficiency and usefulness of such organi zations. Mr. Burnam regarded the Home Guards as occupying the same relation t the regular armies as Sunday echools do to th church. Mr. Clay was for opening the Home completely brought to light, although enough | Guards to persons of all ages; he would place no curb upon them, and he would rather prefer to record his vote for a general conscription to compel every capable man to bear arms in

Mr. Heady was fearful of a double organi zation in the State. We have passed laws authorizing the Governor to cal out all the militia, and he believed the Governor would act promptly upon that authority. Mr. H. was unwilling to pas any bill which provided simply for home po lice defence. If we defend the State, we defend the nation, and there should be no place of efuge, no opportunity afforded to ensconc behind county or home organizations, to avoi the Federal service, if it shall become necessary to resort to a general draft. Mr. Allen wa in favor of a full home organization. Th had been dispersed in a disastro oldiers. If they had been educated those schools of the soldier, the Hon Guards, who doubts that the disaster at Rich mond would never have befallen us, or that the Legislature would have been still doin ousiness in its ancient halls? We should take a lesson from the Confederates on this subject they have organized all their available men and when they are drafted they come into the service well drilled soldiers, and thus our Home Guard drill will make al our citizens efficient when their active servi ces are required. God has infused in the hearts of every Kentuckian that spirit bravery which constitutes the germ of t chivalric soldier. The bill as reported from the committee was passed. It is strongly orable to the encouragement of Home Guard The House finally adopted a Senate resol on that invasion must be repelled from t State by every energy and by the use of me and means to the last effort. It places no re striction on the power of the Governor beyond that provided by the Constitution to enforce the faithful execution of the laws. A discussion on a bill to fix the fees Provost Marshals developed the fact that arbi trary, extravagant, and unauthorized charge have been made for making arrests. It w suggested, however, that as these officers de rive their authority from the Federal Govern ment, the State had no authority to interfer with their compensation, and, to investigate Military Affairs.

During the morning Governor Robinson en tered the House and introduced to the repreentative branch of the Legislature Governor forton, of Indiana, and said that, "in senti ment, action, and effort, he was with the Governor of Kentucky." The members ros o their feet to receive the distinguished vis tor, and every heart was warmed at the ight of the chief executive officer of our poble sister State, the blood of whose children has been poured out like water in the defence of our soil from invasion. Governor Morton deserves all the honors aim; loyal in sentiment, prompt in action, and of Bayard, Crichton, and all others who have been distinguished for superior intelligence efficiency, and public virtues. The House amended the Senate bill fixing he salaries of the Adjutant and Quartermaste Generals at the same rates as officers of simiar grades in the Federal army, by reducing the sum to $1,800 a year. The present incum ents of these offices are discharging their important duties with great skill and energy, and ought to receive the most liberal compa

By a concurrent vote of both branches i has been resolved to adjourn at noon to-day o reassemble at the State Capital on the seeand Thursday of January. The Hon. Richard A. Buckner having been called to Washington on important business connected with the defence of the State, the House manimously elected Curtis F. Burnam, o Madison, as Speaker pro tem. This is a comoliment most worthily bestowed upon one of he most talented and useful members of the Legislature.

A brave Western Colonel recently vrote a congratulatory letter to a newly con aissioned officer, in which he said-"Destro his Government and what safety remains fo or homes; what honors in our history? the past is the memory of greatness; in the future are anarchy, self-contempt, and foreign corn. The orders of Inspector-General Gibson who has been appointed to the command of the force improvised for the city's defence, issued under the proclamation of martial law, will interest every loyal resident of Louisville and Jefferson county.

APPAIRS ON THE LOUISVILLE AND FRANK-FORT RAILROAD .- The train which left this city yesterday morning and proceeded as far as Bagdad, twelve miles this side of Frankfort, returned last evening, bringing a number of passengers from Frankfort, who came down to Bagdad on hand-cars. These passengers left Frankfort at one o'clock yesterday afternoon and inform us that no rebel troops had arrived up to that time. The accommodation train which left this city at four o'clock last evening under orders to proceed to Eminence went to Eminence, but returned again to La grange; the conductor telegraphing that Geo Jessie had appeared between Newcastle and Eminence with some rebel cavalry, and tha he deemed it unsafe to remain at Eminence with the train during the night.

THE INDEPENDENT NATIONAL GUARDS .- At meeting of this company last evening the following officers were elected: W. D. Smith, Captain; R. M. Cunningham, First Lientenant W. F. Wood, Second Lieutenant; N. B. Gantt, Orderly Sergeant; J. D. Grinsted, Second Sergeant; H. Thompson, Third Sergeant; G. S. Moore, Fourth Sergeant; B. G. Rogers, First Corporal; A. R. Dupont, Second Corporal; Jas. Ainslie, Third Corporal; W. Drummond, Fourth Corporal. This company is one of the best drilled in the State, is composed of good fighting material, and, if granted a position for the defence of the city, will defend it heroically. There will be a meeting of the Guards to-night at the armory, over A. B. Semple & Son's store, corner of Main and Sixth streets. We would advise loyal men to join the "I. N. G.'s" if they wish to be well drilled.

SAFETY OF COL. BRAMLETTE .- A detachment of Morgan's rebel cavalry made their appear ance in Columbia, Adair county, on Monday last, taking the citizens completely by surprise Col. Bramlette, who was sitting at the door of the hotel when the advance rode up, was recognized by them, and a furious assault was made upon him, the rascals hoping that they would either kill or capture him. He escaped, however, thanks to his gallantry and ingenuity. Failing in their attempt to capture the Colonel, the rebels sought to kill his son, at whom they fired no less than six ineffectual shots. ARRIVAL OF PRISONERS .- Capt. R. E. Jeeter the city last evening, with the following prisoners, who were captured by Gen. Dumont's forces in the vicinity of Lebanon: Chas. W. Geers, J. L. Head, Alex. Hinkle, Joseph Duncan, Wm. Coken, J. B. Blanton, J. B. Wyatt, David Cokendolpher, J. T. Yount, Nat. Gaither, and John Walden. Geers was a bearer of despatches from John Morgan to Kirby Smith, and his despatches fell into Gen. Dumont's hands.

We learn that an attempt was made by a party of eighteen Nelson county rebels to capture the Hon. Aaron Hardin at Greensburg on Monday morning last, their design being to bear him to John Morgan, whose forces they were in the act of joining. Not finding Mr. Hardin at Greensburg, they fled precipitately, and have no doubt joined Morgan ere

The report that Gen. McClellan ha again been reinstated as Commander-in-Chief of the army in Virginia was received in our city last night with the most enthusiastic demonstrations, which show that he has wor the confidence of the people, and that they look upon him as the man to successfully op pose the rebel armies now before Washington

MORGAN'S MOVEMENTS .- We learn from an excellent source that John Morgan's cavalry, to the number of two thousand men, were a Perryville at ten o'clock yesterday morning Despatches from Morgan to Kirby Smith which were seized near Lebanon, disclose Morgan's intention to unite his forces with those of Smith at Lexington or in that vicinity

The following named gentlemen were elected on the 2d inst. as directors for one year of the Merchants' Bank of Kentucky, viz H. C. Carnth, John B. Smith, Wm. F. Barret, B. F. Guthrie, A. P. Cochrane, Wm. H. Stokes J. B. Wilder, Herman Beckurts, and Geo. W. Wicks. At a meeting of the Board, H. C. Caruth was unanimously re-elected President.

Col. JACOBS'S CAVALRY .- By letter from Lancaster, under date of August 30th, we learn that the Ninth Kentucky Cavalry was organ ized with the following field officers: R.T. Jacobs, Colonel; John Boyle, Lieut. Colonel; J T. Faris, First Major; W. C. Moreau, Second Major; G. W. Rue, Third Major; Frank H. Pope, Adjutant; W. R. Gist, Quartermaster.

FOURTH APPELLATE DISTRICT .- The majorit for the Hon. R. K. Williams for Judge of the Court of Appeals for the Fourth District was 11,374, the aggregate vote being 16,922. This result is complimentary in the highest degree to Judge Williams, who has served faithfully as a Circuit Judge for a period of twelve years

THEATRE.—The beautiful play of Ingoma the Barbarian, and the pleasing farce of the Maid with the Milking Pail, will be produced this evening, in which Mr. Macauley and Mrs. Vanderen and Bella Gordon, with all the other new favorites, appear. Alfred Stewart sings a song between the pieces.

The performances of the new steamer Ironsides on her trial trip at Philadelphia were very satisfactory. With about forty-five revolutions to the minute, a speed of nine mile the hour was attained, which would be largely increased when the machinery is worked up to its full power.

We learn from a gentleman who arrived from Glasgow last evening, that Provost Marshal Goran, of Glasgow, and six other citizen of Barren county, were captured and sent to Tuscaloosa by John Morgan on Sunday last.

The slaughter-house of Mr. E. Beckman, in the suburbs of New Albany, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning, involving a loss of five hundred dollars. Capt. Brown, late Post Quartermaster at Lexington, arrived in the city at two o'clock yesterday afternoon in advance of his wagon

Capt. Henderson desires a meeting o all the members of his company at the Hope Engine-house, at eight o'clock this evening. There was an advance upon the rates for gold yesterday, bankers holding it nomi-

Suppose one of the diving-boats, furnished with a compass and accurate plan of the vessel it was to destroy, it would only have to tow one r more of these cases beneath her and ttach it to her bottom, which could be acimplished with almost the same facility whether that bottom were iron or wood, row way from her to a safe distance, and then, by the mere fracture of a glass tube or the turn-ing of a cock so as to admit the water into the tube, explode the composition. Contact between the bottom of the ship and the case being ensured by the specific gravity of the latter being less than the water surrounding it, the full force of the explosion would be felt found printed at length in the appendix to Stanton's Revised Statutes, 2d vol., pages 780 to 804. Particular attention is called to the provisions of the 7th Section of the law, which by the vessel, and the inevitable result would be to tear a large hole, or turn her over on her side. In the event of its being a strong vessel built of iron throughout, it is not unlikely that both results would follow. DETAILS OF THE DISASTER TO THE GOLDEN GATE. The following is a copy of the statement of Captain Hudson, of the Golden Gate, to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company:

to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company:

GENTLEMEN: I have to report to you the total loss of the Golden Gate, by fire, which occurred on the afternoon of the 27th instant, fifteen miles to the westward of Manzanilla. At five in the afternoon, when at dinner, the ship was reported to be on fire. I immediately arose from the table, requesting the passengers to remain quiet, and proceeded to the spar deek, when I found a dense volume of smoke coming up from the engine room hatchway. All the fire hose of the ship were immediately put in requisition and worked with all possiput in requisition and worked with all possi-ble energy.

The ship was now about three or four miles

The ship was now about three or four miles from the land. I saw at a glance the impossibility of subduing the flames, and immediately put the helm up to run the ship ashore. Men, women, and children were now ordered forward, and probably one hundred had reached the forecastle, when the flames spread with such rapidity as to cut off all communication with the after part of the ship. I ordered Mr. Waddell, the chief engineer, to keep the engine moving as long as possible. All regular communication with the engine room was cut off in a few minutes by the flames. Several of the firemen and engineers were still below. The feed valves of the boilers and furnace doors were opened wide, and all precautions used to prevent explosion.

So rapid was the spread of the flames, however, that the engineers and their men barely escaped with their lives, by forcing a pussage through the after freight room bulkhead. At half past five we grounded about three hun-dred yards from the beach, where there was a with passengers, under charge of my chief of-ficer, Mr. Nolan, who remained by the ship rendering all possible aid in saving life. In the meantime, life preservers, spars, and everything of a buoyant nature, were furnished to the passengers, thrown overboard after she struck.

The flame spread with

The flame spread with such rapidity that the hurricance deck, from the foremast aft, fell with a tremendous crash before reaching the shore, and soon afterwards the foremast went diers that I have descriptive rolls for them shore, and soon afterwards the foremast went by the board. The heat had now become so intense as to compel all who remained to leave the burning wreck by lowering themselves in the water with lines furnished for that purpose; and many had thrown themselves into the water from various parts of the ship. Atter all had left, Captain Pearson and myself dropped from the bowsprit, and succeeded, with great difficulty, in reaching the beach. I found about eighty had reached the shore with life.

All that remained visible of the ship at 8 P. M. was ber engines, boilers, and wheel frames. At daylight on the following morning, the 28th July, we found and buried sixteen bodies, and at 8 A. M. we started for Manzanilla, and at noon we reached the terminus of the Eeach, about five miles from the wreck, and found the roads impassable from the density of the chaparral or brushwood. At 3 P. M. a boat hove in sight, with which we communicated and sent to Manzanilla for relief. On the morning of the 29th two of our boats reached us and reported that they had saved sixty-four passengers.

was one of the passengers who safely swam through the raging surf to the beach. He once reached fordable water, but a reflux wave hurled him back again. On gaining terra firma he was very much exhausted, and some time elapsed before he recovered his conscioudness. A number of females also survived the trying ordeal of the breakers, but it nearly cost all of them their lives.

John Henry Rooth, a lad of ten years, jumped overboard about ten minutes after the fire broke out. He swam to a boat in which his broke out. He swam to a boat in which his grandmother and others had secured places; but the boat being full he struck off for another not yet filled. He was taken in and safely landed, while the other boat, containing his grandmother and Mrs. McMullen (the only persons he knew in her,) in attempting to leave the side of the vessel, was struck by the paddle and swamped. The bodies of the boy's grandmother and Mrs. McMullen were washed ashore and buried, side by side, On arriving here the boy was taken in charge by Mr. David Ferris, firmished with a new suit of clothes throughout, and taken to his home, where he is kindly provided for.

The irreparable loss sustained by Mr.

got the boats out (three in number), where he was very actively employed in saving the passengers.

The steamer at this time was turned heading towards the beach (about three or fourmiles distant), the wheel lashed and the engines kept in motion. I was afterwards told on shore by the second engineer (first and second engineers were both saved) that the engineer who was on duty at the time of the burning of the steamer was lost.

By this time there was a great deal of excitement aboard. Many of the passengers both passengers, it was crowded, there being some twenty-five or thirty in it, a number of them ladies. That boat was struck by the wheel as it reached the water, before the tackle was cast off, and swamped. The weather was fine; had been warm all the day, and the sea was calm. There was a slight land breeze, nothing more.

In about fifteen or twenty minutes after the alarm was given the steamer struck the beach. By this time her whole upper works, from stem to stern, was a sheet of flame, with the exception of a small space forward of about fifteen feet, where the passengers who were yet on board, to the number of nearly one hundred, I should judge, were crowded together, some clinging to the rail, to the chains, wherever they could obtain a hold or a footing. Washington, Sept. 2. The latest trustworthy news from the from was brought by a surgeon who left Fairfax (H. at 9½ on Monday evening, and reported the military authorities after midnight. The enemy was still pursuing or threatening to pursue the flanking movement to which Ger Pane's despatches of vestedely moving. ope's despatches of yesterday morning erred. Gen. Lee was believed to have march his troops on the Little River turnpike, which runs to the north of Centreville to Gur Springs through Germantown and Fairfax ( I. to Alexandria. Ample preparations habeen made to meet him, and the probabilities were that there would be a great battle fought to-day or to-morrow. The supposition was strengthened by telegrams from Fairfax Sta-tion, dated later in the evening, to the effect that there was heavy firing in the direction of Leesburg, between which place and Fairfax Station lies Fairfax C. H. The report brought by other officers who left the front at an earlier bour than this surgeon was that the enemy had fallen back with his whole army for lack of supplies, being satisfied with what he ha already done, or at least feeling himself unable to accomplish more. These gentlemen supposed the movement on our right flank to be a feint intended to cover the retreat.

Later.—There is little or no doubt that there was a heavy skirmish between our forces and the rebel's advance and our outposts last night We laid on the beach huddled together (the weather growing cool before morning) to keep warm, as many of us were without clothes and well night exhausted. In the morning we started afoot for Manzanilla. About six miles from where we started we found water. Here the party divided. About forty of us started to make the port by going across the meuntains; the others, including Mrs. Wallace, Captain Hudson, and Captain Pearson were mained at the water. The Spanish navy will scop be a started to make the port by going across the meuntains; the others, including Mrs. Wallace, Captain Hudson, and Captain Pearson were mained at the water and across the meuntains; the others, including Mrs. Wallace, Captain Hudson, and Captain Pearson were mained at the water and so from his government, but the rebel's advance and our outposts last night the report gained no credence.
